Download our checklist for choosing a Medicare plan

CHECKLIST:
☐	Make a list of your current healthcare needs. Consider things like medications, procedures, and other services.
☐	Consider any new healthcare needs that may arise in the coming year. If you have a chronic health condition or are at high risk for developing a certain condition, you may require more frequent care.
☐	Find out if your primary care doctor is in the plan's network. Some Medicare plans don't cover out-of-network healthcare professionals, which means you'll be left paying the full cost of those services.
☐	Contact your doctors and check to see which Medicare plans they accept. This is called "accepting assignment."
☐	Make a healthcare budget. Between premiums, deductibles, and fees for services, Medicare costs can quickly add up. If your income is limited or fixed, look into financial assistance programs right away.
